Not illustrated. 1908 Excerpt: .Judas was Christ s great failure, as John was his great success, of the original Twelve. Jesus was not mistaken in his estimate of Judas, and so fell a victim to his own error in judgment. There was in Judas a possible John, as there was in John a possible Judas. It was the possibilities in Judas that led to his being chosen, and that was true of every apostle. Our Lord trusted each as he proved worthy. Hence there was an inner circle of bodyguard apostles whose names always appear first in every list. The name of Judas ever appeared last; and in his immediate company were two or three others whose possibilities were never fully developed because continuing to be slaves, more or less, of their preconceived opinions of what the Messiah would be and do along temporal lines. Lecky well says: The first condition of all really great moral excellence is a spirit of genuine self-sacrifice and self-renunciation. Was it not this that our Lord ever taught his apostles? and could he have failed to see the lack of response on the part of Judas? John, who knew most intimately the heart of Christ, declares: He did not trust himself unto them, for that he knew all men, and because he needed not that any should bear witness concerning man; for he himself knew what was in man. (John ii. 24.) Fully a year before this, Jesus had said: Did not I choose...
